EXCITEMENT IN TOWN LAST NIGHT—RESCUE OF
COL. RYAN—A DEPUTY MARSHAL BUCKLED AND GAGGED—PROBABLE DEPARTURE OF FOUR HUNDRED MEN FOR CUBA—THE SPANISH SPY ON THE LOOKOUT.

There was the greatest excitement last evening in Cuban and Spanish circles in the Marshal's office ing in Cuban and Spanish circles, in the Spanish colonies and among all who knew anything about the stirring events in which the friends and enemies of the "ever faithful isle" were acting perilous parts. It was rumored that Col. Ryan had escaped from the custody of a United States Marshal. After diligent inquiries, the following facts were ascertained:

after the proceedings in the United States Court and Commissioner's Office yesterday afternoon a lady had offered to go Ryan's bail to any amount, but he refused to permit her to sign a bail bond, and asked that a deputy marshal might be sent with him to the house of a friend up town, where he would get trustworthy parties to become his bondsmen in the sum of $20,000. This request, which looked reasonable, was granted, and Deputy Marshal Dawley was ordered to accompany Ryan. The first place they visited was the Metropolitan Hall, where sundry drinks were indulged in, and Ryan, who was busily engaged in conversation with several gentlemen during the time he was at the hotel, bid them adieu, and, with Dawley, proceeded to a saloon in Prince-st., near Broadway, where Ryan said he wished to see some friends. Both went in, and the first thing in order was drinks. After taking several, Ryan's friends became very friendly toward the Deputy, and insisted that he should spend the night with them. This, of course, he Marshal strongly objected to, and endeavored to keep as near the Colonel as possible. Ryan ordered a champagne supper, and declared that they would have a good time there before they visited his friend's house. The Deputy objected again, and insisted that the Colonel should accompany him to Ludlow-st., as he suspected that they were endeavoring to stupefy him with liquor. He advanced toward Ryan, and attempted to lay hands upon him. This was the signal to the Colonel's friends, who were at once seized, and after desperate resistance, was "bucked and gagged," and stowed away in another room. All this happened about 4 o'clock. Ryan and his friends at one point for parts unknown. After about 2 hours' confinement Ryan was released, and allowed to depart. It is needless to say that he did not let the grass grow under his feet before the facts of Ryan's escape and his own share in the matter were fully reported to Government officials.

Steps were at once taken to get on the track of the fugitive. In a short time it was discovered that who sped "littery down Broadway and whitewashed," a 12 o'clock last night, and slipped silently around to the little wharf back of the Staten Island ferry house, where the United States revenue cutter Uno was lying. A couple of questions elicited from a judiciously non-committal individual the fact that the cutter was on duty, and had been over to Jersey City in fact, was going again. "And what about the Cubans?" "We are not supposed to know anything about them." "Who does?" "The Marshall's deputy, around in the stern." To Marshall's deputy, a demure young man with his heels on the rail and his shoulders on a coil of rope, is scanning the Jersey shore with sleepy watchfulness. A little polite questioning soon induces him to say that Barlow is on Staten Island, and knows nothing about this affair at all. He himself was notified at 9 o'clock by a regular and trustworthy informant that 200 men for Cuba, unarmed, had crossed in the evening from New York to Jersey City, and that the Deputy, having Col. Ryan in charge had been "bucked, gagged, and put away."

and his prisoner rescued. Hastening down to the Battery, he pressed the cutter Una into service, crossed to Jersey City, and found the Cubans lounging about in front of Taylor's Hotel. Not caring to be "cut into small pieces," he prudently returned to the Battery, and posted himself where he thought he could see and overhaul any suspicious vessel that might leave the Jersey shore. After waiting till midnight without making any discovery, he gave the order to cross to Jersey City again, and this it was that pro-voiced the profane denunciation of the Marshal from one of the fatigued crew. At 1 o'clock the cutter moved quietly out into the stream, carrying the deputy on a second reconnaissance.

ANOTHER ARREST.

Last night, about 104 o'clock, a carriage was driven up to the Casino in Houston-st., and from it alighted Deputy-Marshal Davis, who went into the Casino and arrested Charles Currier, one of the

THE SPANISH-CUBAN DIFFICULTY.
An examination in the case of the editor of El Cronista, José Ferrar de Cunta (the hero of the duel with Francisco de Ponce, editor of the Cuban paper, La Realidad), took place yesterday afternoon in the examination room of Jefferson Market Police Court, Justice Dodge presiding. De Conta is charged with assault and battery by Lorenzo Tomaselli, the proprietor of a barber shop. Señor de Conta was represented by Mr. Henry Morango, and Tomaselli's counsel was Mr. Samuel Sherman, brother of Gen. Sherman. The complainant was sworn in his own behalf, and said that he is an Italian, and owns the barber shop, corner of Twelfth-st. and Broadway. On the 18th of May he was assaulted by the defendant, who is a Jew, and ing that he had understood there was a caricature of him in the room. He seized the picture, tore it into fragments, and rushed toward the deponent, exclaiming in Spanish, "I will kill you," and put his hands behind him under his coat, as though looking for a weapon. The witness, thinking he was about to shoot him, retired. The testimony was frequently interrupted by the disputes of counsel and Señor de Conza, who was much excited. On cross-examination, Tomaselli said that the ac-used is a very passionate man, and has been concerned in several affairs of honor and assaults. A burlesque biography of De Conta, which, together with copies of the Cuban paper, were for sale at the plaintiff's place of business was put in evidence, as was also the remnants of the caricature. The latter is a skillfully executed pen sketch of a man with a ferocious mustache poring over a book, which is supposed to be a register of deaths, among which are written in Spanish, "Here lies José Ferrar de Conta," "Here

HUDSON RIVER BAPTIST ASSOCIATION.
The Hudson River Baptist Association (South) commenced at the 17th anniversary in the Tabernacle Baptist Church on Second-ave. yesterday at 10 a. m. About 130 delegates were present. The Rev. J. W. Buckland of Calvary Church preached the sermon and was afterward elected Moderator. A letter was read from the First Swedish Baptist Church, Oliver-st., soliciting the prayers of the Association on behalf of their starving brethren in Sweden. Prayers were accordingly offered up in their behalf, and a motion to grant pecuniary relief was withdrawn after some discussion. A discussion then took place on the subject of church extension. At 1 o'clock a recess was taken until 4. On reassembling, after singing and prayer, Mr. Rhodes, Chairman of the Committee, read the report of the Committee, recommending resolutions, which, after some sharp discussion, were adopted in the following form: That the Church Extension Committee consist of 10 members, viz.: Edward Bright, Peter Balen, A. Denicke, William Phelps, S. S. Constant, J. F. Wyckoff, G. H. Anderson, J. M. Bruce, J. B. Trevor, and Mr. Stephens; that Brother Andrews proposed that a collection be made there and then, which was carried. The roll of the Churches was then called with the following result: Madison-ave., $200; Stanton-st., $50; Cannon-st., $50; Tabernacle Church, $100; Calvary, $25; First German, $50; Warburton-ave., $100; Beroran, $25; Macdougall-st., $50; Pilgrim (New-York), $30; Mount Otero, $25; First Church, Melrose, $10; Trinity, $25. Total, $760. A resolution was passed to the effect that the Association rejoiced in the union of the American Baptist Publication and American and Foreign Bible Societies, and hoped that the churches which had hitherto been backward in contributing would commence to act more liberally. The Rev. Mr. Simmons delivered a short address, in which he urged the necessity of educating the colored population of the South. Adjourned.
